FRIDA KAHLO

La pintora de la Casa Azul

The life, the colours and the animals of Mexico's most famous painter, with Spain 🇪🇸 and Argentina 🇦🇷 vocabulary

PONCHO
SPANISH

¡HOLA!

Frida Kahlo painted herself more than anybody else has ever painted themselves. She put her face, her flowers, her monkeys, her pain and her country on small canvases, and a hundred years later the whole world recognises them.

This resource collects more than 80 words and expressions around her life and her art, each one with a real example sentence: who she was, the blue house where she was born and died, her self-portraits, her colours and flowers, her animals and what she left behind.

You don't need to know anything about art to start. The words here are everyday Spanish: colours, animals, family, feelings. At the end you'll find activities to check what you remember, and all the answers.

How to use it

1. Read the word, then the sentence. Words stick better when you see them in action.
2. Look up one painting as you go. Try «Las dos Fridas» or «Viva la vida».
3. Say the colours out loud. Half of Frida's Spanish is colour.
4. Try the activities without looking back, then check the answers.

La pintora

A woman who paints is la pintora; a man is el pintor. Lots of jobs work like this in Spanish, and Frida used the feminine with pride.

el pintor = la pintora

Two countries, two words

Frida was Mexican, so her world is Mexican. The everyday words around her do change from country to country: when you see two options, the first is common in Spain 🇪🇸 and the second in Argentina 🇦🇷.

la falda 🇪🇸 = la pollera 🇦🇷
